Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

WEDNESDAY JULY 23
ANNOUNCEMENTS.
For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce H. H. HEN-NINGER, Wayne county, a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For Railroad Commissioner.

We are authorized to announce R. Owen Cochran, of Spencer county, a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, of the Second district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

STATE PRIMARY.

We can not understand why a sentiment favoring a primary to select Democratic candidates for our State ticket should be urged on the party, yet it is apparent that this mode seems to be growing and will doubtless have its enthusiastic supporters before the party tribunal selected to devise ways and means for settling party troubles. A move of this kind, in our judgment, would result disastrously to the maintaining of a strong and progressive Democracy.
It would place shackles around many worthy aspirants and chain down a laudable ambition. It would broaden the fields for the wealthy and contract the avenues of men who blaze out their own path by sheer force of sterling ability and untiring and undaunted courage and energy.

We see no good reasons why the party should have a primary, because it would create an expense as heavy as a State election, and this expense would have its back-ers and payers only in those who were able to enter the race. We are, therefore, opposed to a primary by reason of that fact. We oppose it for the further fact that it does not contain a single move that would enable the party to secure a stronger ticket or to select it on fairer terms than has heretofore existed. We oppose it because it would tend to centralize the power in our party, not only in the hands of the wealthy, but would give certain sections of our country an advantage which we do not tend to strengthen the party in other localities and after one skirmish, one battle, the party would emerge from the costly "family fight" much weaker but probably wiser.

We trust that such a course will not commend itself to our committee, and that county conventions will still hold sway directed by precinct mass meetings of true and loyal Democrats.

Give us the fairest, simplest and cheapest method and it will be in accord with Democratic principles. Give us such party laws as will not hamper any section or eliminate any true Democrat from an honest presentation of his desires before the party, and when a ticket shall thus have been made, angelic love will prevail and irresistible power will be our heritage. Down with the intrigues of political schemers and up with the broad and fair methods of true Democracy. Down with expensive primaries, the mother of disastrous party troubles, and hoist the banner of precinct county conventions where every Democrat can exercise his high prerogative of being a candidate if he chooses and where every Democrat can take part in naming a ticket without expensive preparations of those who desire a place on the ticket.

Capt. Richard P. Hobson, the hero of the Merrimack and the victim of feminine curiosity of a later date, rescued a young lady from drowning in the Mississippi the other day. Just to try his nerve he asked him if he would save her if she fell into the river.
He replied that he would. In an instant of time she purposely went overboard. He saved her, but it was as narrow an escape as it was foolish in design.

The Taylor County Enquirer seeks to provoke the News and to bring about a worded war, but we refuse to wage ammunition on small names. However, under existing circumstances a short notice is justifiable. The aforesaid Enquirer states:
"Now, Brother Harris, we are aware of the fact that our subscription list does not 'encircle the globe,' but what for we have come to us unsolicited, principally, and we have no agents galloping around over the State taking subscription and job work for practically nothing. We make our living in Taylor county, and have not the nerve to come over on your side after anything. We know your tactics for doing business here, and we promise you now, that if you ever get another job of work in this county it will not be from a county officer."

In making the above threat to oust us from Taylor county the sagacious Editor unintentionally and unwittingly gives our job office an advertisement and makes an admission of his inability to meet competition. His ridicule of our efforts to keep our job presses running cuts no figure. We do not consider it a crime to have representatives to sell our goods before the borders of our own county. We solicit business, at home and abroad, by strictly fair and honorable methods. We keep one of the largest and most complete stock of pruner's goods of any country office in the State and sell the same on the closest margin, consistent with safe business. We secure business in the broad field of competition and have no reflections to cast at those who place their orders in the custody of others whether they are secured within or without the realms of the county in which we live. We have no "tactics" to control the buying of any one, in or out of our county, except the merit of our work, quality of goods and inviting prices.

We are not inclined to believe that the Editor of the Enquirer has a controlling interest in the officials of Taylor county, neither do we believe that business men will seek the highest market to buy goods. We believe that buyers are justly entitled to the benefits of free and untrammelled competition, and, further, that no seller should seek to monopolize for the purpose of extorting unjust profits.
The Enquirer's article closes as follows:

"We know you are a power in this land of red frogs and flies, and we want to ask you to write a double-headed editorial next week, top of column next to reading matter on both sides, about how Taylor county should pay railroad tax. We have heard of several valuable suggestions you have given which we know would meet with their hearty assent."

We simply say to the people of Taylor county that the News has never meddled in matters in which it has no part! It steers clear of entangling alliances and believes in the spirit and teaching of the Monroe doctrine. We will endeavor to pursue our own course in the future as in the past, giving all the best service within our power both in the columns of our paper and in our job-office.

The News wants a man, a Democrat, to announce for office without singing the old song headed: "After the urgent solicitation of friends I have consented to become a candidate for — and anything you may do in the interest of my candidacy will be highly appreciated, etc." An ambition to hold office is honorable, a desire to honor the line, in discharge of official duties, is praiseworthy and to come out, square out, and back up your announcement for office, and not seek to create the impression that you are such an important factor that you can't get away from the desires of friends, would be admirable and would doubtless command as much support and more respect than the old chestnut, yielding to friends. If you want office say so. If your friends are urging you, keep it to yourself and come square to the thing in broad daylight in plain English in this order: "I am a candidate for —, I want your assistance, I will hie to the line if nominated and elected."

Mr. R. Owen Cochran, of Spencer county, whose announcement for Railroad Commissioner of this district appears in another column, subject to the action of the Democratic party, is a tried and true Democrat, an open and aggressive worker for Democratic principles and a gentleman of ability and courage who would make an ideal official. Mr. Cochran is yet a young man, though he has been identified with the active Democratic workers for a number of years. He represented his county in the Legislature in 1899 and did it to the satisfaction of his constituency. For five years Mr.
Cochran was Secretary of the State Central and Executive Committee and we have it straight that he never shirked a responsibility or dodged a plain duty. We can further state that he has manifested his good desires for the Democrats of this county and proved his sincerity in this matter in days gone by, in such a way as to show that he is made of true material.
The Democrats of this county should consider his candidacy and when a full and fair invitation has been made of the material now offered for this important office, give him the support that he merits.
Mr. Cochran was here and in Bas-sell county last week and expressed himself well pleased with the outlook.

The morning Democrat, Lexington, did not pass into the hands of a receiver. Mr. W. P. Walton won his suit and the paper will be sold to the highest bidder and the affairs of the company settled. Mr. Walton will become the purchaser and will continue to send out shot hot from the cannon's mouth.

Mr. J. T. Quarles, a young man well-known here, a cousin of Mr. J. D. Lowe, has been appointed First Lieutenant in the Regular Army. Whatever Jim undertakes to do he does it well, and there is no doubt but he will make a gallant soldier and officer. His home is at Calabro, Tennessee.

Considerable excitement spread over the Breeding neighborhood one day last week when a runner announced that Bert Lloyd had shot himself with a suicide intent. The particulars as we gather them are about in this wise: Your Lloyd was paying his respects to one of the neighbor girls and was pressed up his suit for her hand in marriage. His love was not reciprocated and it was young Lloyd emphatically decided to become his bride. The answer was too much for Bert, and securing a revolver he shot himself in the breast. Medical aid soon reached him and he is now recovering out of danger.

The above named gentleman commenced a series of meetings at the Christian Church, this city, Monday evening of last week, preaching able and interesting sermons. Large audiences attended the night services and last Sunday evening probably as many as fifty could not be seated. Up to now there have been six or eight additions to the church and the interest is growing. The meeting will continue through this week. A cordial invitation is extended to people living out of town.

Last Saturday night Rev. Crossfield delivered his lecture on "The Passion Play" at the court-house, several hundred persons being present. The lecture was made unusually interesting by the use of the pictures which were thrown upon a canvas.

DEATH OF MRS. C. R. ROYSE.

Last Saturday morning, about the hour of 1 o'clock, the neighborly visited the home of Mr. C. R. Royse, removing his beloved wife, who was a victim of pulmonary trouble. She was about 55 years old, a consistent Christian, idolized by a devoted husband and fondly loved by her six children.

The deceased was born and reared in Russell county and was a daughter of Mr. Sam Stevenson, who departed this life many years ago.

She was a lady highly respected and well-liked in the neighborhood where she resided since her marriage, fifteen years ago. The deceased was delicate several years before the end came, but her every wish was gratified, her loving husband seeing that everything was done to make her life happy and comfortable. She has no fears of death, having long since given her soul into the keeping of her God.

To the surviving husband, children, brothers and sister the people of Adair county tender their profoundest sympathy, trusting at the Great Day it will be a reunited family. The interment was at the Royse cemetery Saturday afternoon, many relatives and friends being present.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Hon. M. Ray Barker will address the voters of Adair county as indicated below in the interest of Judge Boring's candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress, Primary Election Aug. 4th, 1903.

McNaha, Thursday, July 24, 10 a. m.; Allan's School House, July 24, 2 p. m.; Conover School House, July 24, 7:30 p. m.; Purdy, Saturday, July 25, 1 p. m.; Pellety, Saturday, July 25, 3:30 p. m.; Pickett's Chapel, Wednesday, July 30, 1 p. m.; Nelson's School House, July 30, 7:30 p. m.; Glass Ford, Saturday, August 1, 7:30 p. m.; Columbia, Saturday, August 2, 1 p. m. Ladies are invited.

THE DWELLING OWNED AND OCCUPIED BY "TAYLOR ANNE" and her husband, two sons and a half sister, of Campbellville, went into smoke last Thursday night. The woman has enjoyed an unenviable reputation for a number of years and her dwelling place was a source of great annoyance to "the civilized community."

Through the courtesy of our friend, Mr. J. Z. Reynolds, we received a copy of the Carrollton, Mo., Daily Democrat which contained a picture of the new court-house now under construction. It will be an elegant building, three stories high and will cost $60,000. The corner stone was placed in position by the Masonic Fraternity of Carroll county.

Miss Sallie Hutchinson and sisters who live a few miles from Columbia, entertained quite a number of their young friends one evening last week. The music, which was perfectly charming, was furnished by the Cane Valley String Band. It was an evening happily spent by the many who were present.

J. S. CHAPMAN, Glasgow, Ky.

All the leases that were taken in Adair county last year are being surrendered by the company who purchased them.

Mr. L. V. Hall sold his interest in the store which he there last week to Mr. W. H. Wilson, who with Mr. Leslie Bennett, will conduct the business, and will add groceries to the store. Mr. Hall will continue to run his tin shop and will occupy his present location, in the second story of this same building. Recently Mr. Hall has been doing some work at Greensburg, roofing several buildings, including the new banking house. He will return to Greensburg in a short time to fill other contracts.

Cloyd & Tandy received 136 fat hogs in Columbia last Wednesday. They paid from $1.40 to $1.50 per pound. They sold one mule to Barber, Robertson & Co., for $100. Bought two from G. A. Bradshaw for $125. The hog market in Adair county has been quiet for the past two months, the above named firm shipping several thousands to market. Hudson & Page are also large dealers and have handled a great many hogs and cattle during the Spring and Summer.

Ed Lodge, the noted moonshiner, was not conveyed from Louisville to Greensburg last week, as was reported, the government authorities having another charge against him. The Louisville Post stated last week that Lodge had killed three or four men. He never killed but one man, a negro, Isaac Miller, a very bad man who belonged in Adair county and who was making at Lodge with a pick-fork. Lodge is a daring moonshiner; that is all.

We learn from Capt. W. W. Bradshaw that about eighteen hundred dollars have been subscribed for the purpose of building a Cumberland Presbyterian church at this place. As soon as a sufficient sum has been raised the building will be erected. The committee prefers a lot on Burkaville street, but in order to get a suitable site a resident lot will have to be purchased. They have one in view but do not know for certain that it can be bought.

Miss Cananda Rexroat, of Russell Springs, was the only one in the teacher's examination to receive a first-class certificate in her county, and in a declamatory contest in Jamestown, last Thursday evening, in which five contestants put forth their best efforts, she was awarded the $10 gold medal. Miss Rexroat was student in the last session of the M. & F. High School in this town and her many friends here rejoice in her signal success.

The handsome piece of work that has reached this office is a copy of the illustrated edition of the Bowling Green Times-Journal. It contains forty pages, showing the business interest of that city. The pictures of the leading men of the place appear, also many handsome residences and business houses. The typographical appearance is a credit to the artists who got it up.

Geo. W. Smith, a white man about sixty years of age, was arrested in Taylor county last week, charged with wronging a Miss Peterson, who lives in the Jericho neighborhood, and for whose father Smith was working as a farm hand. The accused was carried to Campbellville, but to escape the vengeance of a mob he was conveyed to the Lebanon jail for safe keeping.

The dwelling owned and occupied by "Taylors Anne" and her husband, two sons and a half sister, of Campbellville, went into smoke last Thursday night. The woman has enjoyed an unenviable reputation for a number of years and her dwelling place was a source of great annoyance to "the civilized community."

POSTHILL.

Mr. J. H. Smith, our merchant, likes to see his neighbors and friends succeed in their various pursuits, and assists them in every way possible. While we are all encouraged by Mr. Smith, there are many other citizens, mostly farmers, who are lights to the community. By their honesty, industry and truthfulness they have proven that this is indeed a good locality in which to live. The good people are smiling at the thought of having such grand success in the occupation of farming. Their meadows, which have already been mowed, were reasonably good; the wheat crop, now being threshed, is beating their expectations two to one; the oat crop will be rather light; the corn crop is far the most promising we have had for years. The inhabitants of this community have been accused of being close-fisted and unaccommodating. In their defense I must say there is not a more generous, kind and accommodating people anywhere. The word, welcome, is written over their doors, kindness and love in their hearts, and help to all on the walls of their dining-rooms.

Mr. J. H. Smith took a car-load of cattle to Cincinnati last week. The Russell Springs Fair, beginning Aug. 12, and continuing four days, promises to be the best in the history of that association. J. H. Smith is President and W. D. Stephens is Secretary and Treasurer. Under the supervision of these vigilant officers its success is assured. Everybody come to the Fair and have a good time.

Last Friday a party consisting of Mr. R. P. Smith, his mother and little niece, Mandy, and the writer and little sister, Lura, left here to visit friends and relatives in Wayne county, near Monticello. After several hours driving we were on the bank of the Cumberland river. Just as we were ready to step into the ferry boat a steam boat hove in sight. We stood on the bank in the hot sand for more than thirty minutes waiting for the waves which were produced by this mighty structure, to subside. Across the river, and after an hours' drive, we reached Mr. H. McBeth's, Stubeville. Late in the afternoon Bro. Shelby, P. E. and wife, Columbia, arrived. The evening and night were very pleasant. Saturday and Sunday was quarterly meeting at Tuttle's Chapel. On Saturday but few people were present, but on Sunday quite a crowd attended. They had dinner with them, and after services we drove about a mile from the church to a large spring where a beautiful repast was enjoyed. On the way back to Stubeville we passed the famous Mill Springs. A feeling of sorrow came over us when we remembered what made that place noted. The immortal Zollieffer next entered our minds. The party arrived at Stubeville about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. After taking supper a few of us attended church at Monticello.

Monday morning we said good bye and started for home. As we drove slowly homeward we felt that we had visited a country of fertile lands, inhabited by intelligent people, possessing much fine stock—a terrestrial paradise, fanned by the warm breeze of heaven and wrapped in a gorgeous shawl of waving grain. "RUBBER YOURSELF."

Jim Allen set off this good one in his paper, the Crutland Democrat: Over in Nicholas county the other day a young gentleman was driving along the road with what in Pendleton county is known as the "girl" seat contentedly beside him in the buggy. The horse had been allowed to select his own slow gait on the cool highway. The young man's arm had stolen gently around the young lady's waist, and there you had a picture of sweet content but seldom witnessed. Presently the couple became aware that a farmer passing along the road in the opposite direction was staring at them. The young gentleman in the buggy instantly dashed defiance at the intruder. "Rubber!" he cried sarcastically. "Rubber yourself," quickly answered the farmer; "you've got your arm around her!"

Electricity has increased the power of incandescent lights to that of 5,000,000 candles. The mineral oil lamps of the "Doty system," which was in almost universal use previous to the introduction of electricity, did not exceed 54,000 candles in the strength of its illumination.

George Frederick Ernest Albert, prince of Wales, who will become sovereign of the British empire in the event of the death of Edward VII., is the second son of the present king. He was born June 3, 1864, and has therefore lately passed his 47th birthday. Prince George is a sailor by training and many years' occupation. Even in his nursery days, it is said, he was fond of the sea, that ancient heritage of England and the scene of her greatest actions in world history. The cowhide is mightier than the law according to the recent ruling of a Virginia Judge who, after acquitting an aged minister brought before him on the charge of contempt of court, let him go with the thirty and the minister stood accused was the publishing an editorial in which he questioned the Judges motive in permitting the sale of liquor in a prohibition district. A. M. Summers, of Warren county, had twenty-eight sheep killed by dogs in a single night. The next night he put poison on the carcasses of the sheep, and the following morning found sixteen dead dogs on the premises. J. Woodson Fasset, of Bath county, aged 75 years, was married last week in Mt. Sterling to Miss Emily Leake, many years his junior. He had been a sailor for her husband some months, but his children objected, and only a few days before his marriage attempted to take his life by the use of morphine.

There appears to be a new field opening up for ambitious young men. It is the field of scientific forestry—one of the most important matters of the day. The young forester has prospects of a salary that equals that of the average college professor. To men of mental and physical vigor, who delight in natural and outdoor life, this would seem to be a congenial and lucrative occupation. This one has appeared in some of the papers. You can receive or reject it as you see fit. John Filson, a farmer, living seven miles south of Eminence, is the proud father of 44 little chickens, but none of the credit for the results is due to his wife. Filson has been ill with fever, and she decided to utilize him as an incubator. She borrowed the eggs and placed them about his body. Only four failed to produce chickens. Luma H. Holmes, of Springfield, Mo., is one in ten thousand, and doubtless there is something in a name. His aunt, Louise Frisbie, will him $10,000 on condition that he would change his name to Frisbie. He refused and the money now goes to a college. Most people would think there was but little difference between the two names, but in this instance it amounts to the neat sum of $10,000. As Frisbie, Holmes could probably get more enjoyment out of life than any other name he had to his lot. An exchange says: This is the age of bustle, bustle and sweat. A man hustles from early dawn until the katydid sing in the twilight for three weeks a day and a place in which to be awake at night and weary about it. If he doesn't overwork he is called lazy, and if he does overwork he goes crazy. He toils and saves through all the days of his youth so that when he grows old he can wear a silk hat and sit on the knee of luxury, but when his hair turns to snow and his whiskers grow thin and gray in his afternoon, he finds he has been victimized and grievously injured by his own calculations, and that rheumatism and worry have shattered all his dreams and punctured his hopes.

Mr. Will Tucker, of Washington county, showed admirable courage and rare presence of mind in the saving of his little child's life. The child was playing around a well and fell in. The mother took in the situation at a glance, and calling to her little boy, went him for her husband, who was away from home, and then climbed down into the well for her little one. It was impossible for the mother to climb out with the child in her arms, but she held it out of the water until her husband came. A rope was let down and the child drawn up. Then the mother was rescued. It was thirty feet to the water, and the water was eight feet deep, but the mother held to the wall till help came. George Frederick Ernest Albert, prince of Wales, who will become sovereign of the British empire in the event of the death of Edward VII., is the second son of the present king. He was born June 3, 1864, and has therefore lately passed his 47th birthday. Prince George is a sailor by training and many years' occupation. Even in his nursery days, it is said, he was fond of the sea, that ancient heritage of England and the scene of her greatest actions in world history. The cowhide is mightier than the law according to the recent ruling of a Virginia Judge who, after acquitting an aged minister brought before him on the charge of contempt of court, let him go with the thirty and the minister stood accused was the publishing an editorial in which he questioned the Judges motive in permitting the sale of liquor in a prohibition district. A. M. Summers, of Warren county, had twenty-eight sheep killed by dogs in a single night. The next night he put poison on the carcasses of the sheep, and the following morning found sixteen dead dogs on the premises. J. Woodson Fasset, of Bath county, aged 75 years, was married last week in Mt. Sterling to Miss Emily Leake, many years his junior. He had been a sailor for her husband some months, but his children objected, and only a few days before his marriage attempted to take his life by the use of morphine.

There appears to be a new field opening up for ambitious young men. It is the field of scientific forestry—one of the most important matters of the day. The young forester has prospects of a salary that equals that of the average college professor. To men of mental and physical vigor, who delight in natural and outdoor life, this would seem to be a congenial and lucrative occupation. This one has appeared in some of the papers. You can receive or reject it as you see fit. John Filson, a farmer, living seven miles south of Eminence, is the proud father of 44 little chickens, but none of the credit for the results is due to his wife. Filson has been ill with fever, and she decided to utilize him as an incubator. She borrowed the eggs and placed them about his body. Only four failed to produce chickens. Luma H. Holmes, of Springfield, Mo., is one in ten thousand, and doubtless there is something in a name. His aunt, Louise Frisbie, will him $10,000 on condition that he would change his name to Frisbie. He refused and the money now goes to a college. Most people would think there was but little difference between the two names, but in this instance it amounts to the neat sum of $10,000. As Frisbie, Holmes could probably get more enjoyment out of life than any other name he had to his lot. An exchange says: This is the age of bustle, bustle and sweat. A man hustles from early dawn until the katydid sing in the twilight for three weeks a day and a place in which to be awake at night and weary about it. If he doesn't overwork he is called lazy, and if he does overwork he goes crazy. He toils and saves through all the days of his youth so that when he grows old he can wear a silk hat and sit on the knee of luxury, but when his hair turns to snow and his whiskers grow thin and gray in his afternoon, he finds he has been victimized and grievously injured by his own calculations, and that rheumatism and worry have shattered all his dreams and punctured his hopes.
